House Blocks Fund In Rent Subsidy Plan

Administration's Confident Money Will Be Restored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted to hold up money for starting a rent subsidy program for low-income families. But administration sources expressed confidence today the money will be restored later.

Action by the House came Thursday in passage of a $4.2-billion catch-all appropriation bill that had included $180,000 to start the rent subsidy program and authorize contracts for another $6 million.

Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., offered the amendment that chopped the money from the bill. He won heavy support from Republicans and some Democrats who had opposed the program earlier this year in enactment of a housing bill.

The roll call vote that knocked the housing subsidy out of the appropriations bill was 185 to 162. The amendment did not affect an appropriation of $170,000 for administrative expenses of the program.

Under the subsidy plan the government would make payments to owners and developers of nonprofit housing that would be made available to low-income families. Payments could run as long as 40 years and would be based on the ability of individual tenants to pay the rents from their own income. None of the payments would go to private landlords.

Harvey, in successfully arguing for denial of the money, said tentative regulations could permit persons with large investment incomes to occupy the subsidized housing.

Crossings Blocked

EAST PALESTINE — All three crossings of the Pennsylvania Railroad were blocked starting at 11 a.m. today by a westbound freight numbering more than 200 cars. The engineer said he was told something was "wrong ahead" and not to go through. He said he would attempt to back up. Traffic was backed up at the crossings.

Bids Studied By Board On Elementary Schools

The apparent low base bids for construction of the East End and LaCroft consolidated elementary schools totaled $1,360,841, or $78,235 over the amount estimated by the State Board of Education, when offers were opened Thursday afternoon by the city school board.

When the state agency approved a $900,958 state loan in the spring of 1964, it estimated the cost of the 25-room East End building at $655,558 and the 23-room LaCroft structure at $627,048, a total of $1,282,606.

THE LOW TOTAL is based on using electric heat in both schools, since a tabulation of the proposals indicated all-electric in both buildings will be approximately $17,000 cheaper than using gas-fired hot water heat at East End and electric heat at LaCroft.

The board is scheduled to meet Monday night and the bids probably will be discussed with Architect Robert F. Beatty, but it is doubtful if contracts will be let. Beatty must check the proposals, and offers on alternatives on several phases at both buildings, which could change the total cost, must be considered.

If the low general bids of Floyd C. Cox of East Liverpool for the LaCroft building and J. A. Raeder, Inc., of Dover for the East End structure are accepted, actual construction is not expected to begin before mid-November.

Cox submitted an offer of $367,447 for the LaCroft building, while Raeder's bid for the general contract at East End totaled $409,874.

COX HAS constructed additions for several buildings in the Beaver Local district, now has the contract for a new nursing home and last year completed the new Hancock County Children's Home. Raeder has built several schools, the closest to East Liverpool being Stanton Local High School at Hammondsville.

Cox was only $5,481 lower than Raeder's bid of $372,928 for the LaCroft job. The other bidders were: Potters Construction Co., $380,254; Guy Johnston Construction Co. of Steubenville, $401,900, and Modany Brothers of Midland, $414,000.

Trailing Raeder for the East End work were Potters, $442,415; Keller Silver Corp. of Cleveland, $450,077; Modany, $464,000, and Johnston, $472,100. Cox did not submit a bid.

Sayre Electric Contracting, Inc., of East Liverpool submitted the apparent low offer for the electrical work if electric heat is used in both buildings. It asked $95,860 for East End and $92,153 for LaCroft, a total of $188,013.

The Firestone Electric Co. of Salem submitted a combined bid of $204,223, while the Rawling Electric Co. of Beaver Falls asked $246,906 for both jobs.

THE SALEM firm submitted the apparent low bid for electric heating and ventilating at both buildings with an offer of $176,694. Dougherty & Mitchell, Inc., of Youngstown submitted a combined bid of $190,000, while Sayre listed separate offers of $108,949 at East End and $100,105 at LaCroft.

The Salem Plumbing and Heating Co.'s combined bid of $121,866 was the lowest plumbing offer. Dougherty and Mitchell asked $127,000 and H. E. Neumann Co. of Wheeling bid $166,890.

The Bernard Gloekler Corp. of Pittsburgh submitted the low bid among seven bidders for kitchen equipment, asking $54,434 at both schools. Other bidders were the Bee and Bee Co. of Canton, $59,077; Canton Hardware Co., $58,305; Helbling's Supply Co. of New Philadelphia, $58,321; Supreme Fixture Manufacturing Co., $60,000.

Jews Not Blamed For Crucifixion

Council Gives Final OK To Historic Declaration

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted final endorsement today of a historic Roman Catholic declaration deploring anti-Semitism and declaring that the Jews as a whole cannot be blamed for the crucifixion of Christ.

The bishops voted to leave out the controversial word "decide" while stating that the Jews should not be presented as a people "rejected by God or accursed."

By a vote of 1,763-250 in St. Peter's, the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church gave overall approval to the declaration on the Church's attitude toward non-Christians including the Jews.

passages about the Jews and a statement denouncing racial discrimination, will become a Church decree after one more formality: promulgation by Pope Paul VI and the council in a public session of the assembly.

This possibly will come on Oct. 28 or Nov. 18.

The document easily obtained the two-thirds vote it needed for approval, but the size of the opposition vote was the largest given to any council document in a final ballot.

Opponents included conservative and Middle East prelates opposed to the entire document and progressive bishops who wanted to retain the "decide" wording that received preliminary approval in the council a year ago.

Republicans Rip Johnson And Hail Ike

Ex-President Raps Legislation Bullied Through By Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans assembled in 28 cities to toast Dwight D. Eisenhower on his 75th birthday and saluted their salute to the former president with a blistering attack on the present one, Lyndon B. Johnson.

And Eisenhower, himself spoke scornfully Thursday night of legislation "bullied through just by political power."

The birthday anniversary of the last Republican president was a time to raise high the GOP banner, scorn the Democrats — and pour up to $100 a plate into depleted party coffers.

Eisenhower attended none of the dinners, celebrating instead with his four grandchildren in Phoenixville, Pa. But a 15-minute film carried this and other remarks to the diners across the country.

"The laws a nation lives by have to be hammered out by debate, by thoughtful discussion and by give and take. They cannot be bulldozed through just by political power."

"In legislation, it is not how many laws you pass, it is how many good laws you pass."

The power theme — that the Democrats, led by the White House, are too prone to its use — was sounded also by Barry Goldwater, party chairman Ray C. Bliss, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Michigan Gov. George Romney.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin stressed the need to heal intraparty wounds.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon called for a "strong firm line" in Viet Nam. And Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky charged the Democrats with supporting an attack on Eisenhower — an allegation seconded by Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

Welcome Sign Hung Out

U.S. Note To Castro Will Aim At Orderly Exodus Of Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department plans to send Fidel Castro a note today aimed at setting up orderly evacuation of an estimated 30,000 to 50,000 Cubans to the United States.

More than 200 refugees already have sailed to Florida in small boats since the Cuban prime minister opened Camarioca Sunday as an embarkation port.

President Johnson has hung out a welcome sign for Cubans who want to come here. But he wants an orderly process that will allow for some controls, not helter-skelter voyages across the Florida Straits.

The Castro government already has responded to a U.S. note last week which proposed ways of carrying out the transfer. Havana agreed first priority should go to close relatives of Cubans already here, but made counter proposals on other items.

Still to be settled are such matters as giving second highest priority to political prisoners, as Washington proposes, listing the evacuees by name, departure points and means of travel. Once these items are agreed on, U.S. officials figure the formal refugee flow can start in about 10 days.

U.S. diplomats declined to disclose details of the second U.S. note on grounds they do not want to reveal Washington's bargaining position. The note was earmarked for transmission to Havana via the Swiss, who represent the United States in Cuba.

Estimates on how many Cubans may come here are admittedly only guesses at this stage. U.S. officials figured 15,000 to 20,000 may fall within the definition of close relatives.

Castro has been quoted as saying there are 15,000 political prisoners in Cuba. U.S. estimates place the total at up to 30,000 — but it is still uncertain how many, if any, Castro will let out.

The influx will add to a burden which has fallen most heavily on south Florida. So far, since 1961, some 130,000 Cubans have registered at the refugee center in Miami. About 1,000 a month arrive by small boats or by way of Mexico or Spain.

Thursday Rep. Dante B. Fascell, a Democrat who represents southern Florida, said entry for the time being should be limited to relatives and political prisoners — an estimated 30,000 to 50,000, he said.

Besides, Fascell said in a House speech, relocation centers should be opened in other parts of the country to take some of the burden off Miami. He called for congressional hearings and continued federal payment of transportation and housing costs.

South Viet Army Claims 218 Reds Killed In 2 Days

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese army claimed today that its troops killed 218 Viet Cong guerrillas in two battles in the past two days.

The claim was not confirmed by U.S. military spokesmen.

The Vietnamese said 168 guerrillas were killed in the major battle Wednesday night in the Mekong Delta, 10 miles southwest of Can Tho and 95 miles southwest of Saigon. Earlier they had reported 60 Viet Cong killed.

About 500 guerrilla clashed with a government battalion which was reinforced by four other battalions. The government troops as a whole suffered moderate casualties, the Vietnamese said, but one company took heavy losses. During the action, 37 Vietnamese prisoners of the Viet Cong were set free.

A Vietnamese photographer for The Associated Press, Huynh Thanh My, also was killed during the fighting.

Fifty Viet Cong were reported killed in another Vietnamese operation Thursday in Binh Duong Province 20 miles northwest of Saigon. The Vietnamese said they took light losses in the action.

Troops of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division reported sporadic contact in the same area today but said there were no casualties to either side.

Four U.S. Army helicopters were shot down Thursday in the central highlands as 8,000 troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division ended a huge five-day operation. American casualties were described as light.

Three of the helicopters were lifted to safety by giant helicopters called Chinooks but the other was burned, apparently by the Viet Cong.

U.S. sources said 45 Viet Cong were killed and 46 captured in the offensive in the Suai Ca Valley 280 miles north of Saigon.

With 4,000 to 6,000 government troops also taking part, it was the biggest U.S.-Vietnamese operation of the war. A U.S. spokesman said earlier it appeared that the large enemy force previously reported in the area had chosen to flee rather than fight.

The South Vietnamese said their troops have killed 39 Viet Cong and captured 14 in an operation that has been going on for a week south of Hue, in the northernmost sector of Viet Nam. They reported three guerrillas killed today and seven captured.

Troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Brigade routed about 25 Viet Cong Thursday in the Qui Nhon area 260 miles north of Saigon. The Americans came under heavy fire as they approached a village. They drove the guerrillas into a river, killed four Viet Cong and believed they wounded seven others, a U.S. spokesman said. U.S. casualties were termed light.

A Viet Cong call for a general strike today throughout South Viet Nam apparently failed. The U.S. spokesman said reports from major cities showed no response to the appeal. He termed the strike a "total fiasco."

Rhodes Will Run Again, Cloud Tells GOP Meeting

State Auditor Roger Cloud said that Gov. James H. Rhodes will be a candidate for re-election in 1966 during his talk at a Wellsville Republican campaign dinner Thursday night at the First Methodist Church. Two hundred attended.

Cloud lauded the governor's "Invitation to Ohio Program" with the theme "Profit is not a dirty word in Ohio," and said nationwide attention is being drawn to the state through the program.

Cloud said he has "just joined the Ohio team, but I'll be back again. I'll be running when Gov. Rhodes seeks re-election."

Cloud was sworn in as state auditor Sept. 20, succeeding the late Roger W. Tracy. He previously had announced his candidacy for the office.

Cloud outlined the duties of his office and the supervision of the finances of cities, villages, townships, school boards, etc. He also discussed some of the problems involved and renewed his legislative background.

Cloud first was elected as a state representative from Logan County in 1949. He served five terms as speaker of the House and one term as minority floor leader.

William S. Robinson, Republican mayoralty candidate, was master of ceremonies. The Rev. L. Melville Wohrley gave the invocation and benediction.

Mrs. Naomi Roach and Marsha Porter Gardner sang solos.

Russian Wins Nobel Prize In Literature

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Soviet writer Mikhail Sholokhov today was awarded the 1965 Nobel Prize for literature.

Author of "Quiet Flows the Don," Sholokhov is a member of the Supreme Soviet or parliament. He is 60.

The Swedish Academy gave the prize to the veteran of Socialist realistic prose for "the artistic power and integrity with which in his epic of the Don he has given creative expression to a historic phase in the history of the Russian people."

The chairman of the academy's Nobel committee, Dr. Anders Osterling, noted that Sholokhov, "Although a convicted Communist, keeps ideological comment out of his book completely" in his major epic, "Quiet Flows the Don."

This broad novel series, finished over a decade and completed as early as 1940, often has been compared to Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

It earned the veteran revolutionary Cossack writer of Veshenskaya-on-the-Don a Stalin Prize. It has been made into films and operas and is regarded a national epic of the Soviet people. Sholokhov also won a Stalin Prize for his second broad epic, "Virgin Soil Upturned."

Appeals Judges To Hear Cases At Lisbon Tuesday

LISBON — Seven cases are scheduled for hearing by the 7th District Court of Appeals at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the courthouse here.

The judges are Nils P. Johnson, George M. Jones and John J. Lynch.

The cases to be heard are:

City of Salem vs. Columbiana County Board of Elections, Common Pleas Court on Jan. 21 upheld a Salem ordinance fixing ward boundary lines, which the board of elections declared illegal. Appellants in the action are Councilmen Harold Astry and Albert Lesch, both Democrats, who contend the re-alignment of wards favors Republicans.

State of Ohio vs. Frederick C. Minamy. The defendant, 53, of Salem was convicted in May 1964 by a Common Pleas Court jury on a charge of sodomy.

State of Ohio vs. Sanford A. Davis. The defendant, 44, of Smiths Ferry, was convicted May 14, 1964, by Common Pleas Court jury on a charge of a $200 armed robbery Aug. 30, 1963, at a Negley area farmhouse. Davis began a 10-to-25 year sentence in the Ohio State Penitentiary in April. Davis' brother, James, 27, of East Liverpool, indicted on a similar charge, has requested a continuance and his case has not been tried.

Charles F. Amato vs. city of Wellsville, et al. Common Pleas Court found that Amato is a regular member of the city police force and has been since Sept. 2, 1963, and is entitled to all privileges of a regular patrolman, including pay.

Vera E. and Frederick Birkhimer vs. Marjorie Starkey. Mrs. Starkey, of Lisbon R. D. 4, is appealing a 1964 jury verdict allowing the Birkhimers, of Salem R. D. 1, $10,000 in a traffic accident suit.

State of Ohio vs. Irwin M. Colwell. The defendant, of New Springfield R. D. 1, is appealing a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Variations In Presidential Energy

President Johnson has confided to one of his assistants he doesn't feel as dynamic as he hoped he would after his abdominal surgery.

What he actually said was that he felt more tired than he thought he would.

There is an interesting and significant ratio between presidential vitality and events. It has been noted in the experiences of many important national leaders.

At this very moment, Indonesian President Sukarno is in trouble because of a slacking off in the vitality that has given him an edge over his opposition. Rivals are closing in for the showdown.

Joseph Stalin and Anthony Eden found their problems multiplying as their personal energy was drained away by failing health.

Despite the concealment of his disintegrating vitality, Franklin Roosevelt's physical condition had direct bearing on the state of government in the months before his death. Presidential leadership was weakening.

Herbert Hoover remained in sound physical and mental health throughout his administration, but it cannot be questioned that his morale was shattered by events of his final year in office.

The United States veered close to disaster during the months while Woodrow Wilson lacked ability to serve as president.

Variations in intensity of presidential performance could be charted on a graph, with high points occurring during the administrations of Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin Roosevelt, low points during the administrations of Woodrow Wilson and the final years of Harry Truman's administration.

Another high point was reached this year during Lyndon Johnson's administration. If the dynamic Texan now must ease off until post-operative ennui wears off, he still will have accounted for one of the most dynamic intervals ever recorded in the energy chart of the American presidency.

Will Tin Cans Eventually Disappear?

Reading about the possibility that a rising price of tin and the necessity of competing with aluminum plastic and glass may force the steel industry to pull out of tin plate in years to come, we remembered our introduction to the manufacture of this famous commodity.

It was during a trip through a steel mill. A guide was asked about a bar of silvery metal. He said it was tin—pure tin—worth a great deal of money.

He explained how this semi-precious metal could be spread thin over steel to make tin plate and that we were seeing the first step in the manufacture of tin cans.

That was a long time ago, when tin cans monopolized the commercial market.

Glass was all right for home canning, but too fragile for commercial handling. Aluminum was somewhere in the future, as were plastics. The idea of a steel can with no tin coating would have to wait on development of other coatings, to prevent oxidation.

Side Of The Road

Now that our great, good government is going to concern itself more officially than before with highway beautification, I can think of other efforts that should be made in the same direction.

These wouldn't cost our great good government a solitary cent. This may seem to rule them out of serious consideration as public projects, but it does not rule them out of serious consideration as private campaigns.

Herewith, I propose a cooperative Bureau to Investigate Trash — BIT.

This bureau to be composed of suburban and country residents tired of picking up sackfuls of garbage and rubbish transported into the countryside by knuckleheads who don't know what to do with the stuff and throw it out along highway rights of way to get rid of it.

It would sleuth down offenders, tie them up in paper sacks and cardboard boxes, then dump them along highway rights of way and let them lie there until the grass grew over them.

I propose a cooperative Bureau of Unauthorized Dumping — BUD. This organization would be responsible for shooting holes in the tires, bashing in the windshields and ping-pong out the headlights of all motor vehicles transporting loads of trash to any location not designated officially as a dump. It also would wing the operators of the vehicle, whenever possible.

This proposal is made in the thought it would give members of the KKK something better to do than terrorize fellow citizens who are guilty of nothing but being alive without KKK sanction.

There also should be a voluntary Panel for Unbiting Mailboxes — PUM.

Hundreds of thousands of miles of roadways in the Republic are lined with mailboxes of no uniform design and in varying stages of repair.

Their improvement is a private, not a public, program. It would be impossible to obtain public sanction for the principal thing that needs to be done to improve them, which is to get personal revenge against vandals who make mailbox improvement a frustrating experience.

The Supreme Court would say it is unconstitutional to have a shoot-out with truck drivers who clip helpless mailboxes, hunters who blast at them with shotguns, playful kiddies who knock them over for fun, snowplow operators who bash them in with tons of dirty,

It came back to mind while reading about the possibility tin plate for tin cans may go the way of the horned owl, the aardvark and sweet little old ladies who drive cars only on Sundays. We looked around the house.

The washing machine goop was in a plastic jug. So was the bleach. Frozen juices were in aluminum. Oleo was packaged in aluminum foil. Heat-and-eat dinners were in stamped aluminum with an aluminum foil cover. Cottage cheese and ice cream were in plastic.

The peanut butter was in glass. The scouring powder was in heavy cardboard, with an aluminum bottom. Tooth powder was in an enameled steel can, as was the shaving cream.

In the grocery supply cupboard many cans of different kinds appeared a few of tin, some of coated steel. Tin cans around the house already are in dwindling supply.

Their ultimate disappearance may be a long way off, but it has begun.

By Truman Twill

wet snow and careening hot-rodders who destroy them on their way to the hereafter.

There is only one solution — violent retaliation. Ten thousand volunteers must be found to stand guard with squirrel rifles, in sheltered places, watching for vandals who make it useless to spruce up mailboxes. Pow! There must be no mercy. We must organize for Prevention of Destruction — POD.

Maybe now that Lady Bird Johnson is wound up and rarin' to go on highway beautification, she can help out. Or don't they have an LBJ mail box by the side of the road Down in Texas — DIT?

Odd Facts

According to former standards, it was said that a man was worth 98 or 99 cents, so far as the basic chemicals in his body were concerned. However, that was before a major market developed for enzymes and nucleic acids—precious items, a pound or so of which in the average human body is valued at $800, based on present prices.

The occupation which have been found to be most taxing on one's eyes, according to experiments, are those of stenographers, teachers, draftsmen, physicians, dentists, clergymen, lawyers, jewelry and watchmakers, tailors, barbers and engravers.

The knots in boards are the result of branches which extend from the center of the tree to the outside. After a branch has died and a cambium of living matter grows over the old piece of branch, a knot is formed.

The highest mountains east of the Rockies in the U. S. are the Black Mountains of South Dakota. Mt. Rushmore, in this group, is celebrated for the likenesses of Washington Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, which were carved in stone by the late Gutzon Borglum (1867-1941).

Can't Get Off The Stuff

Johnny Dio Set For Promotion

By Victor Riesel

That acid-tongued extortioner and ex-convict, Johnny Dio, penitentiary-pal of the Mafia's prime minister, Vito Genovese, is on the move again.

It's his coming of age. At 57 he is ready to take his place in the Cosa Nostra's highest councils.

It should interest his old friend Jimmy Hoffa that the boy wonder of the underworld is doing well, what with a partnership in a mid-Manhattan novelty advertising firm selling pencils, pens and cigarette lighters with special messages affixed. And there is his muscle — I mean meat — business.

But the boys in his old circles need have no worry. Dio's sticking by tradition. Since some of the Cosa Nostra chiefs are ailing with heart conditions, Johnny Dio is ready to move into the big time labor relations business. Dio has gall. Will travel.

All this is the shop talk among a fascinating band of men who gathered in the Justice Department's Great Hall last Monday morning. Department head Nick deB. Katzenbach was host to 92 U.S. regional attorneys general.

THEY HAD COME from across the land to talk of many things — but especially of labor racketeering, usurious loan operations, fake bankruptcies, crooked factoring schemes, galloping arson and the war on the organized criminal syndicates.

The attorney general told them this war had just begun and left them to two days of guarded consultation. Like other U.S. fighting forces, today they are better equipped and their knowledge of the gorilla front is vastly superior to what it was in the old, colorful days which now provide so much TV entertainment.

The attorney general has a file of 2,300 top racketeers — such as Johnny Dio and his sponsors, namely the powerful Tommy (Three Fingers Brown) Luchese, now ill.

These 2,300 names are linked to a system of 250,000 cards on which are listed the activities, the investments and the relationships of the leading hoods.

In all there are 15 federal grand juries now digging into the organized rackets. The toughest three are in the Southern District of New York under the guidance of U. S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau. With inspired, though methodical digging, he and his colleagues have learned more about the Cosa Nostra than even old Joe Valachi knew.

THE VALACHI chart on the Joe Bonanno grouping disclosed only 21 names. Mr. Morgenthau now has well over five times that many.

Typical of his activities is the discovery of the man who took over from Carmine Galante, who took over from Joe Bonanno when the latter disappeared a year ago almost to the day.

The newcomer, John Joseph Morale, a fugitive for 22 years from an army desertion charge, was discovered living well in a New York suburb. The FBI picked him up and he is now out under $50,000 bail.

Mr. Morgenthau describes him as the acting head of the Bonanno operation which reaches from New York to Buffalo to the Southwest and on to the Coast.

One of Attorney Morgenthau's grand juries still is digging into the Luchese empire. Thus the probers ran across Johnny Dio's trail.

The ex-convict who served time in Atlanta not too long ago when Joe Valachi was there fascinates the government now for many reasons. Some of the men who were with him in the old teamster's dummy-union charter days have set up new operations. One of them, for example is a Sidney Hodes, once president of two Teamsters' locals and secretary-treasurer of another all at the same time.

NOW HODES is the $10,000-a-year, business agent of Teamsters' Local 875 in a New York City suburb. Officially, his outfit is the Rug-cleaners, Dvrs. Handlers, Drivers, Helpers and Production Workers' union.

They've been organizing the employees of small businesses. What concerns the government now is the pattern. Is it isolated? Is it being repeated in the burgeoning communities outside a hundred major cities? Has the old crowd infiltrated other Teamsters' locals and still other unions?

If so why has there been no housecleaning? The attorneys general expect to get some answers after they return from their own anti-crime convention.

Unrest Is Spreading In Cuba

By Bernard L. Collier

The scene was the cavernous 7,000-seat Chaplin theater in Havana. As Fidel Castro so adroitly directed it, the stage was set for an uplifting Marxist melodrama. The plot was right out of "007" by way of "East Lynne."

It was pure boxoffice and Castro played it to the rafters on Sunday Oct. 3. He was finally going to tell what happened to the Communist-controlled island's one-time No. 2 man, Maj. Ernesto ("Che") Guevara, who had dropped from sight six months before. The perplexed Central Intelligence Agency, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Interpol, State Department analysts, the intelligence agents of practically every nation, sat glued to their short-wave monitors for a solution to the disappearance of Guevara.

But none of the questions about the fate of Guevara was really answered by the Castro production. Instead, a poignant letter which Castro said was written by Guevara April 1 created a deeper mystery than his prolonged absence had.

THE EXTRAORDINARY two hour and 100 minute Castro speech, however, in a weird and tantalizing way, did say a good many things about Cuba.

Most of Washington's Cuban experts admit to being bewildered by some of the recent twists and turns in Castro's foreign and domestic policies, especially the surprise Sept. 28 proposal to allow a new mass exodus of Miami-bound refugees from his island.

They also are unsure of just what, of late, is behind Castro's seemingly disdainful attitude toward both the Soviet Union and Communist China.

The bulk of U.S. intelligence from Cuba points to growing unrest, mostly because of the Castro government's failure to live up to its goals of industrialization, consumer goods in abundance and political freedom.

Cuba still is tethered to the capricious world sugar market (now down to less than two cents a pound) by the inability or unwillingness of Russia to provide the wherewithal to turn the island into an industrial nation.

Food is scarce and consumer products are scarcer. Judging by the tales of exiles and the fact that there are so many ready and eager to quit their homeland, political freedom exists only on Castro's terms.

From almost every standpoint, Castro's revolution has not been won. Yet the letter from Guevara — so sentimental in parts that Argentines have wryly suggested that it be put to sad tango music—says that the 37-year-old guerrilla warfare expert and former Cuban economic czar feels that "I have done my duty."

THE QUESTION the experts are mulling is why Guevara, with so many problems still ahead, left for "new fields of battle."

After studying the letter, many U.S. officials feel that Guevara never wrote it and that Castro read a phonny to cover up the well known ideological differences between the two former comrades of the Sierra Maestra. Others say that the letter reads most of all like a last will and testament and that Guevara is dead.

Still others are sure that the letter reflects Maj. Guevara's true character — "the revolutionary purist" and international soldier of Communist fortune, who could not stand to see the Cuban revolution under Castro bogging down in bureaucracy.

There seems to be validity in each interpretation but most experts here lean more and more toward the theory that if Guevara is alive he simply got fed up with Castro's erratic, Soviet-bent course, and, knowing that he could never lead the nation since he is an Argentine by birth, chose to seek excitement elsewhere.

One thing does seem clear: the swashbuckling phase of the Cuban revolution has gone with Che. It's widely accepted that Guevara was the most original of Cuba's Red braintrust—and perhaps one of the most original Communist thinkers of this generation.

But much of his theorizing ran directly counter to the Soviet line, and the hand that feeds Cuba is in Moscow. On a three-month trip to Africa, the United Arab Republic and Red China early this year, he bit that hand several times and the howls from the Kremlin were loud and clear in Havana.

Double Standard

By David Lawrence

U.N. Acts On Rhodesia Issue

An event of tremendous significance has just occurred in the United Nations. By a vote of 108 to 2, the General Assembly has called on Great Britain to refuse to accept a declaration of independence by Rhodesia, because the latter's present government will not grant a majority of the inhabitants self-rule but will continue to give a white minority the preponderant power.

While there is a widespread feeling that the black man in Africa should have his rights, the incident raises the question of why the same principle shouldn't be applied to the people of other countries where a white majority have been and still are being denied the right to rule themselves.

Thus, for example, the populations of Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia and overwhelmingly white, but their independence is impaired by an outside power which holds them in subjugation under "Communist colonialism."

THE FACT that the General Assembly of the U.N. now is insisting on self-government for different nations throughout the world which have been ruled by outside powers is an encouraging sign. The captive nations in Eastern Europe, however, have never had the benefit of a United Nations resolution declaring that they should enjoy independence and be allowed to develop autonomously without interference from other governments.

Certainly the U.N. has never advocated the use of "all possible force" to deal with this problem, as it has just recommended with respect to Rhodesia.

In the case of the satellite countries in Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union supposedly gave independence to this bloc of nations but nevertheless has managed to retain control through the apparatus of the Communist party and often with military forces.

The Soviets try to spread the impression even now and then that these Eastern European countries are independent and can make trade arrangements with other parts of the world. But the fact remains that they do not really have self-government.

SO ANY PRONOUNCEMENT by the United Nations today with respect to the right of self-government for the people of Rhodesia, the majority of whom happen to be black, could be taken to mean that the world's biggest international organization soon may express itself in favor of the principle of self-government for white people who have come under the yoke of the Soviet Union in Eastern Europe.

It's significant that the United States voted for the resolution to hold up the grant of independence to Rhodesia by Great Britain, and in a friendly understanding with the British foreign office has undertaken to work in harmony with the authorities there.

Pressure is to be brought to bear on the Rhodesian whites to prevent them from becoming independent under a government which, it's argued, wouldn't reflect the will of the majority of the people. There are nearly four million tribesmen, mostly uneducated, and 250,000 white possessing skills of various kinds.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT has indicated it will participate in economic sanctions whereby trade would be cut off and aid of various kinds would be interrupted if the Rhodesian leaders insist upon separating themselves from the British and going it alone.

But, it will be asked, just why shouldn't Great Britain and other countries be willing to apply the same formula to Red China? The Peking regime has undertaken to prevent a majority of the people in South Viet Nam from maintaining their independence.

The United Nations has, in effect, approved all measures of economic or military force that may be necessary to insure the independence of Rhodesia under a government chosen by a majority of its people.

This gives hope that in the future perhaps the same concern will be felt and similar measures adopted to insure the right of the majority of the people of Viet Nam to govern themselves without interference by a minority aided by Red China or the Soviet Union or any other country.

Some day, too, perhaps the peoples of Eastern Europe will be helped by the United Nations to regain the independence they once enjoyed.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The first step in the organization of an East Liverpool art club was taken during a meeting at Carnegie Public Library.

An airway observing station was to be placed in operation shortly at Swaney Airport in Madison Township. W. F. Brozman, U.S. weather observer at Pittsburgh, advised Frank Swaney, owner of the 63-acre field.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — "Sidewalk superintendents" had a field day at Lisbon as two houses were moved across the community's streets to new locations.

TEN YEARS AGO — The cha-cha and other steps were demonstrated by professional dancers from Pittsburgh during the annual "Bosses Night" of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Country Club. Mayor E. Allan McKeever was among those who tackled the intricate steps.

"Don't let the 'do-it-yourself' trend carry over into fire-fighting," Chief Charles Bryan warned householders as the city continued its observance of Fire Prevention Week.

6 Drivers Cited In Fog Crashes

Six drivers were cited and the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon is investigating possible charges against two others as the result of a series of rear-end collisions on the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. in heavy fog Thursday morning.

Officers today still are investigating some aspects of the eight mishaps which occurred within minutes of each other about 1 1/2 miles west of the Pennsylvania line.

Six of the crashes involved eastbound vehicles and two westbound, all within about 200 feet of each other near the Frank Fisher farm and to the west of the crest of the hill leading into Beaver Creek Valley.

TWO WERE hurt in the series of crashes, the patrol reported, and investigation of those accidents is not complete.

The chain reaction began at 6:45 when a Columbiana County Retarded Children's School bus, operated by Ronald Grove Mills, 26, of Brookfield Ave., Lisbon, halted to pick up a student.

John Fred Schmitt, 19, of Cannons Mills Rd. in a 1956 car and Robert Trbovich, 27, of S. Hollywood Ave., headed east behind the bus, halted.

Michael J. O'Farrell, 30, of N. Shady Ln. driving a 1961 auto, was unable to halt and his car rammed the rear of Trbovich's 1962 compact, knocking it into Schmitt's auto.

A minute later, a 1963 compact operated by Dora B. Noble, 40, of Glenmoor, struck the rear of O'Farrell's car.

She and O'Farrell were charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance. There was moderate damage to the front and rear of his car and that of Trbovich, moderate damage to the front of hers and moderate damage to the rear of Schmitt's. The bus was not involved.

A FEW minutes later, about 200 feet west of this mishap, Charles W. Holland, 36, of Center St. in a 1954 sedan stopped behind other autos which halted because of the accident.

Patricia Brooks, 28, of Christian Pl., in a 1963 vehicle, was unable to stop and her car crashed into the rear of Holland's, causing heavy damage to her car.

Charles Franklin Resing, 44, of Calcutta, following her auto, was unable to stop, and his 1964 station wagon struck the Brooks' car.

She was taken to the Crucible Steel Co. emergency hospital at Midland, then to City Hospital, where she is in "good" condition with a possible fractured right knee and chest injuries.

Officers have not completed investigation of the crash involving her car and Holland's, but Resing was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A FEW FEET to the west, John Frederick Randolph, 35, of Salineville R. D. 3 halted behind other vehicles which had stopped because of the accidents ahead.

A small 1959 sedan operated by Frank M. Rizer, 42, of R. D. 1 came upon Randolph's car and Rizer swerved in an attempt to avoid a crash, but his car's fender hit the left rear of the other auto.

Kenneth Ray Baxter, 41, of Glenmoor, driving a station wagon, came upon the scene after Rizer and Randolph had gotten out of their autos to check the damage. Baxter's station wagon hit the rear of Rizer's sedan, knocking it again into Randolph's.

No one was injured, but Baxter and Rizer were cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

In the westbound lane opposite these damaged cars, Dale Douglas Mays, 29, of Wellsville R. D. 1, driving a truck, stopped, and his vehicle was struck from behind by a 1960 compact sedan driven by Gordon Griffin of Glenmoor.

The compact in turn was struck in the rear by a 1959 coupe driven by James Edward Buchanan, 58, of Leetonia R. D. 2, causing heavy damage to the smaller auto of Griffin, who was taken to City Hospital for treatment of bruises of the chest and legs.

Buchanan was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Officers still are investigating the other crash.

SEATO Advisers Spur Efforts To Halt Communism

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Military advisers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization ended a semiannual two-day conference today with another call for a determined effort to thwart Communist subversion in this troubled region.

The military leaders, in a joint communique, said they reviewed Communist threats to the treaty area and "expressed determination to maintain and increase the effectiveness of SEATO as an agency in countering subversion."

Informed sources said the communique was approved unanimously by the military chiefs of the United States, Britain, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Australia, and by observers from France and Pakistan.

Pakistan said earlier its military chief could not attend the conference because of its conflict with India. France sent an observer in line with President Charles de Gaulle's decision to avoid giving any semblance of approval of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Critic Nielsen Has His Say

The TV critic whom the networks regard as best qualified to assess their shows was heard from this week — Mr. A. C. Nielsen. When his first national rating "book" for this new season was delivered on industry desks, hundreds of executive heads bowed low to simultaneously pray and quickly study the fractional figures which supposedly indicate how many of the nation's 60 million sets were turned on and what percentage were tuned to which show.

EACH EXECUTIVE then called in his chief statistician to squeeze the maximum from the minimum. CBS naturally would brag about having 9 of the top 15 rated shows on the Nielsen rating list, but NBC was quick to announce that it had "more half-hour wins in the top 40" than the other two networks.

ABC's slide-rule experts, meanwhile, could prove that on certain nights between such and such hours it was supreme.

After the horn-toting came the "facts of life" conferences to decide which executive will tell the losing producers and stars that their shows are canceled. Generally it is deemed better just to let the news seep out in the trade papers.

That is how Dick Crenna, star of "Slattery's People," learned of his fate, which in this instance was decided before the national Nielsen figures came out.

"WE SAW a marked retreat in the early Arbitron and Trendex ratings on Slattery," said CBS program head Michael Dann.

Fortunately for programmer Dann the national Nielsen had "Slattery's People" rated very low, too, although it is based on only the two weeks of Sept. 17 and Sept. 24, a period when most viewers still were attempting to catch up with the new season shows.

Dann saved "Slattery's People" from cancellation last season by reversing a decision of former CBS-TV president James Aubrey's and announcing that "never have we seen so much mail accumulate in support of a TV series."

Yet, after just two weeks of the new season, CBS cancels "Slattery's People." Its replacement on Dec. 3 will be a "new nighttime program starring Art Linkletter," but one which CBS admits later in the announcement "will incorporate many program elements presented in Linkletter's popular 'Hollywood Talent Scouts' broadcasts of the past summer."

SO JUST 10 "Slattery's People" episodes will be seen, although the network contracted for 22, and Crenna says he and Bing Crosby Productions will be paid for 22.

"What are the rules in this game?" Crenna asks, mystified.

"CBS is not saving money on this move. We had a 26 share of audience rating in the first 30-city Nielsen, and that's higher than we had last year, but we have only 143 stations out of 207 this year, so I guess we were in trouble before the season started."

The Crenna plaint is a typical one in TV today. The rules, for his information, are based on winning Mr. Nielsen's lottery—which already has been deemed a questionable one by a special congressional subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark.

ACCURATE OR NOT, the networks accept all ratings as gospel, and unless there are extenuating circumstances, shows are dropped when that rating is not high enough. Network presidents still testify in Washington that this is not true, that they have "other measuring tools" to determine their decisions.

They are not too clear, however, about what these other tools are.

I saw a forked stick on a network executive's desk one day, but I prefer to believe it was a slingshot used for firing spitballs at his secretary.

One tool I know never is used is one to measure the quality of a show. Actually the word quality never enters into high-echelon network discussions on programming.

Often, in fact, one won't even hear the titles of the show in these discussions. Instead, one executive will say to another, "How are we at 8:30 Thursdays compared to NBC?"

"Eight-thirty isn't so bad, but they're clobbering us at 9," replies executive No. 2.

Morton Raps Blacklists, Extremism At Ike Fete

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., hammered at blacklists and extremism in a speech at a birthday celebration for former President Dwight Eisenhower and claimed the "Birchers of the left" have a grip on the Democratic Party.

At a Republican fund-raising dinner Thursday night, Morton accused Group Research Inc. of printing an "admitted blacklist" which includes prominent political figures.

"There is no such blacklist," said Wesley McCune, director of the Washington-based organization, but confirmed Morton's statement that the Democratic Party had donated $10,000 to group research.

Morton said the organization publishes a list labeling as "right wing extremists" Eisenhower, Herbert Hoover, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and such Democrats as the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois and John L. McClellan of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Investigations.

McCune denied this, saying Morton apparently was talking about the index to the directory which lists many types of organizations which affect public policy.

At Kiwanis Meeting Here

Cloud Calls For Widening Of Ohio Economic Action

The continued expansion of economic activity in Ohio was underscored by State Auditor Roger Cloud during the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Cloud urged communities and business and industrial leaders to help continue the economic growth of the state since it means expanded employment and prosperity for all.

He said it also means larger revenues for the state for improved educational, transportation and other services.

The new auditor, appointed Sept. 20 by Gov. James Rhodes, referred to increasing state interest in development of technical institutes to provide training for these young men and women not inclined to academic education, but vitally needed as skilled workers.

Cloud also spoke of the current problem of Ohio reappointment in line with the Supreme Court decision on representation by population.

He discussed his experiences as a state legislator, starting in 1949 and serving as speaker of the House for five terms.

He also reviewed his new position and the scope of the auditor's office, which covers financial operations of state and sub-divisions and schools.

Cloud was introduced by Delmar O'Hara of Wellsville.

Alex Kidd, president, announced plans are being made for the semi-annual pancake supper later in the fall, with Collin Neal in charge.

Irish President, 83, Nearly Blind, Will Seek New Term

DUBLIN (AP) — President Eamon De Valera is 83 and nearly blind, but he's planning to run for a second seven-year term next year.

The old veteran celebrated his 83rd birthday Thursday. Friends reported he had decided to try to continue in office.

Most political observers believe "Dev" will win easily. His 1959 opponent, Gen. Sean MacEoin, is believed unlikely to run again. The small Labor party may put up a candidate, but he is not expected to be much competition.

The presidency is a ceremonial post divorced from active politics but this time the election holds special significance.

Whoever wins will preside over the 50th anniversary celebrations of the 1916 Easter uprising which led to Ireland's independence from Britain.

This prospect holds obvious appeal for De Valera, who in 1916 was the last of the rebel commanders to surrender.

A native of New York De Valera served as the Irish Republic's first prime minister from 1938 until 1948, when his party lost to a coalition headed by John A. Costello.

De Valera was re-elected in 1951 and stayed in power for three years. He made another

Lease Signed On Space For County Court

LISBON — County commissioners Thursday signed a new lease with John Bauknecht, East Palestine attorney, to continue rental of a building utilized by the Eastern Area County Court.

The new agreement retroactive to Oct. 1, provides Bauknecht will receive $110 monthly. It is a four-year extension of a former lease which would have expired Dec. 31, 1966. The new expiration date is Sept. 31, 1970.

The commissioners also approved a $150 travel allowance for Mrs. Russell V. Phillis, matron of the County Home, to attend a conference in Cincinnati Oct. 24-27.

Mrs. Phillis will be attending the County Home Superintendents and Matrons Association Ohio Welfare Conference. Mrs. Phillis is secretary of the organization while her husband, the former county home superintendent, is president. They were elected to the offices at a meeting of the organization in September.

Three other travel allowances were approved. They were: $20 to County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge to attend the sale of the Tassi Coal Co. at National City Bank of Cleveland Thursday; $15 to Walter McCoy, service officer of the Soldiers Relief Commission, to transport a veteran to the VA Hospital at Wade Park Thursday, and $7 to Russell Reichenbach and Harold McCall to attend the Eastern Ohio Dog Wardens Association conference Wednesday at Mt. Vernon.

The commissioners approved two easements for highway purposes and an agreement for a stream channel change in Section 24 of Wayne Twp. All three involve property of Leroy and Helen Witherow of Lisbon-Stuebenville Rd. The first easement is 42 of an acre, for which the Witherows were paid $1, while the second easement, 10 of an acre, was valued at $140.

The Witherows also were paid $1 for an agreement on a channel change in a creek at County Bridge 1337.

A plat submitted by Eleanor H. Phinney, the first addition to Glenmoor, section 29 of St. Clair Twp., was approved by the commissioners.

The commissioners approved the hiring of Sarah Ramsay to replace Blanche Hillsberry of Lisbon R. D. 3 as cook at the Retarded Children's School at Elkton. She is to receive $150 per month. The commissioners acted upon the recommendation of Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

Streets' Resurfacing To Resume Saturday

Barring more bad weather, the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry will put the finishing touches Saturday on blacktop resurfacing of Pennsylvania Ave., Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave.

The job was to have concluded today, but heavy rain forced cancellation of work at 8:45 a. m. A 10-inch-wide coat of sealing compound will be placed along both curbs for the entire length of the job, making completion of the project.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said a parking ban will be in effect tomorrow on both sides of the entire stretch from State St. to the Ohio - Pennsylvania line. The ban is an "absolute must" to permit the seal to be applied without gaps, he emphasized.

Planning Group Meets

Swaney Airport Pushed For New County Facility

The use of Swaney Airport near Glenmoor as the site for the proposed Columbiana County Airport was recommended to the county's Regional Planning Commission at a meeting in Lisbon Thursday night.

Vincent Laneve, president of the East Liverpool Jaycees, and Robert Lewis of the organization described the Swaney field as ideal for development into a county facility.

The planning commission last night approved a recommendation to the county commissioners that a County Airport Authority be organized.

The Swaney field, which already has two runways, is one of several sites which have been considered by county groups for the county facility, with $100,000 due from the state as the county's share of the bond issue approved by voters in May.

The Swaney field, off Route 267, has an east-west runway about 2,200 feet long and a north-south runway about 2,600 feet long.

Laneve and Lewis said both runways could be extended, but a proposed northeast - southwest runway would be more appropriate, offering a better approach and a longer runway—almost 4,000 feet on the present land plus possible extension to as much as 6,000 feet.

The basic minimum standards for a county airport have been listed as a 4,500-foot runway, a 75-landing strip with 300 feet of area on each side for taxiing and land plane parking.

The county airport would be designed primarily to serve executive-type planes used by industry for transportation.

The purpose would be to better serve area industries and to attract new industries.

Erwood Calvin of Columbiana, chairman of the Planning Commission's transportation committee, urged the creation of an airport authority with which the state officials could deal concerning the selection of a site and obtaining the fund grant.

Discussion was held on various sites already studied, most of them in the northwestern and northern parts of the county.

The Planning Commission directed Calvin's committee to further study other sites — including one suggested by Laneve and Lewis in Madison Township — and file a written report and a list of the sites.

Members of the committee recently appointed by the county commissioners to study the possibility of creating an airport authority attended the meeting. During a brief session of their own, this committee also agreed to recommend the establishment of a county airport authority.

facturing Co. of Cleveland, $60,490; Paragon Supply Co. of Pittsburgh, $66,250, and Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co. of Detroit, $63,000.

A combined bid of $16,298 from the Durable Floors & Appliance Co. of Youngstown was the apparent low offer for tile floors at both schools. Schenley Floors, Inc., of Pittsburgh asked $16,703, while A. Kutsch & Sons of Wheeling bid $18,000.

The Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry submitted the only offer for driveways and parking areas, asking $21,980 for both schools.

Riverview Nurseries of East Liverpool asked $1,350 for landscaping and vine planting at both schools. It was the only bid received. No bids were received for seeding and fertilizing.

The Miller Co. of Piqua was the lone bidder on window shades, asking $2,885.

THE BIDS were opened and read by T. V. Utterbach, chief of the building section of the State Department of Education. He was accompanied by his assistant, William Dean.

Board members attending the session were Harry D. McConville, president; Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, vice president; Samuel W. Brown and John R.

Woomer. Richard Smith was unable to attend. Also attending were Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk - treasurer of the board; Supt. Paul H. Blair, Asst. Supt. George Hargraves, Beatty and Dr. George Van Horne of the architect's staff.

Some 30 representatives of bidding firms sat in on portions of the 90-minute session.

None Seriously Hurt As Big Cargo Plane Lands On Road

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Three crewmen and several persons on the ground escaped serious injury Thursday when a huge four-engine turbojet cargo plane crash-landed on Interstate 75. The plane, similar in appearance to a military "flying boxcar," was circling to land at nearby Wright - Patterson Air Force Base when it apparently experienced a power failure.

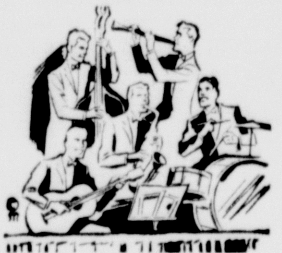

on my car," said Betty Kaufman of Dayton, who was driving in the northbound lane. She said her car narrowly missed being hit by the plane as it came hurtling out of the underpass. No automobiles were hit by the plane, but deputies said many cars were hit by flying debris and gasoline. No one in any of the cars was hurt. Cupul and two other crewmen, the first officer, Peter Onieu, 33, of Dayton, and the flight engineer, Robert Butler, 39, of Saline, Mich., emerged from the aircraft with only cuts and bruises. The plane, an AW650 Argosy owned by Zantop Air Transport Co. of Inkster, Mich., was carrying a chemical used in rocket fuel. However, Air Force officials said the chemical, hydrazine, was not explosive in the form in which it was being carried. Crews from Wright-Patterson worked through the night dismantling the craft and removing wreckage from the area. In the meantime, the Ohio Highway Patrol rerouted traffic around the area.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have found a way to keep the front of my wash and wear dresses from clinging to the back of them (or is it vice versa?) while they are drying.

I put one of the plastic bags (in which clothes come back from the cleaners) on the hanger, then put the wet dress over it.

The bag helps the dress dry faster and more wrinkle-free, since front and back aren't clinging together. Also there is no danger of rust stains on it from the hanger.

DEAR HELOISE: I think I have the answer to the problem of keeping bread fresh for a week or more.

Since I put most of my meat in the freezer, I turned the meat drawer in my refrigerator into a bread drawer.

Magic! Bread never dries out or gets stale before I can use it.

I think that a good-sized bread drawer would be a very useful addition to new refrigerators.

A DAILY READER

BETTE

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR BETTE: It's for sure! The dresses do dry faster and so much more wrinkle-free.

And this plastic-bag-under-the-garment method is also wonderful for those pretty nightgowns which have a filmy nylon overskirt, with a heavier nylon knit underneath, and for slips, blouses, etc.

And, as an added bonus, the clothes don't slip off the hangers.

Thanks a bushel.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's an idea for those who have little telephone index markers, and like to keep the books nice:

Instead of writing all the names in ink, use a pencil so that when 'phone numbers change, they can be corrected without damaging the book.

Also, cut out, or tear off, the little name and address labels that come on envelopes and packages, and tape them in your books. They take up much less room, look neat, and can be replaced beautifully.

MARTHA SCOTT.

Now, that's what I call using your noggin! Thanks, Shug.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When you disconnect your refrigerator at any time (such as vacation or in moving), if you will stuff wadded-up newspapers into it while it is disconnected, the odor will be absorbed into the paper, and when it is removed the refrigerator will have a fresh, clean smell.

A CONSTANT READER.

DEAR HELOISE: This is a man, sneaking into your women's world of ideas and household hints.

But, I have the feeling that just as many men as women are reading your column.

When I look up a name in the telephone directory, and there is the possibility that I will need the same number again some time (such as TV repairman, dentist, co-worker, etc.), I underline the name and number, and put an "X" mark in the upper corner of that page in the directory.

This makes it easy to locate if I need to call a particular number in the future.

UNCLE PETE.

DEAR HELOISE: When knitting stockings, mittens, etc., I always save any leftover yarn to use for mending.

The yarn matches the item exactly.

JAN RANDALL.

Man Who 'Deposited' Baby At Bank Sought

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police are seeking a man who "deposited" a baby boy, believed to be his son, in a branch office of the Central National Bank of Cleveland.

Police said the man brought the child, about 14 months old into the office Thursday and began arguing with assistant manager Mario Contini about learning his wife's bank balance. Contini said the man was incoherent as to his wife's name so he wouldn't disclose the amount.

After a brief argument, the man placed the child on a chair and shouted, "Here, you've got all the money, you take the kid." Police said. He then hurried out of the office.

High School Senior Faces Assault Charge

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A high school senior is to appear in court here Saturday on charges of assault and battery in connection with an attack on a Columbia Station man which left the man blind in one eye.

The left eye of Paul S. Berger, 23, was removed Thursday after an unsuccessful attempt Sunday to save it. Sheriff's deputies have charged Paul Zacharias, 19, of Berea with assault and battery. They said the youth attacked Berger with a beer bottle outside a Columbia Station tavern.

Wife Of Sandusky Bank President Dies

The car ran across a sidewalk and crashed into a Washington Park fountain.

City Bids Due In Excavating On Shadyside

Following through on councilmanic action in September, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today bids will be opened at City Hall at noon on Monday, Nov. 1, for excavating and earth-removal in a project for widening of Shadyside Ave.

Excavating contractors will be asked to submit sealed offers or furnishing labor and equipment for removal of approximately 4,600 cubic yards of earth. The contract will be awarded by the Board of Control, comprised of the director and Mayor George E. Willshaw.

A total of $8,000 is available for the work, under an agreement worked out more than a month ago between Council and county commissioners.

Council appropriated $4,000 out of city funds to help finance the project. Commissioners earlier had agreed to foot 50 percent of the bill for the work, up to a maximum of $4,000.

The project contemplates removal of earth to widen the narrow stretch, plus application of a temporary surface to alleviate traffic problems in the coming winter. It is seen as the first stage in a widening program to be continued next spring.

Shadyside Ave. residents have complained for months that the twisting hillside stretch is so narrow that two school buses cannot pass with safety.

In addition, they complained that pedestrians, including school children, must leap off the roadway at the approach of traffic because there is not sufficient room for both motor vehicles and persons on foot.

Toledo Man Kills Himself, His Car Carried Weapons

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP)—State police said an Ohio man shot and killed himself Thursday on the New York State Thruway after his car was stopped because it was carrying firearms.

One companion escaped into the woods and a third man was captured.

Police identified the dead man as Willard Dennis Wilson, 26, of Toledo.

They said troopers stopped the car he was driving and Wilson stepped to the front of the car, placed a revolver against his chest and pulled the trigger.

Eugene Porter, 25, of Adrian, Mich., was arrested and charged with illegal possession of firearms. Troopers said they also were investigating his possible link to a post office burglary in Michigan.

A search was under way today for the man who escaped. He was identified as James Meyers, 30.

NEWSPAPER CARRIER BOY DAY

OCTOBER 16th 1965

Join Us In This SALUTE to a Great Team!

• IF EVER a group of boys refutes the idea that youth of today is unwilling to accept responsibility or do things for themselves, it is the carrier-salesmen of this newspaper — and the million boys just like them.

WE ARE proud indeed of the great team of carriers who deliver this newspaper to the homes of readers so dependably each day. They do it as young men in business for themselves — thereby turning spare time into profits to spend and save, learning by doing as well as by schooling, gaining valuable business experience, forming sound habits, and getting a head start toward successful careers.

JOIN US in a hearty salute to all these alert, ambitious, reliable teen-agers — and to your own carrier in particular! He's probably one of the most popular and promising boys in your area. Get to know him better each time he calls! He merits your encouragement!

The impact of newspapers, and the freedom which they represent, would be nil were it not for distribution.

Today, newspapers enjoy many modern means of distributing their daily or weekly product, including the United States Postal Service and fleets of modern delivery vehicles.

Significantly, however, the oldest and most reliable device for distributing newspapers to the readers is still with us. He is the newspaperboy. He may be a lad, and he may be an older man, but regardless of his age, he distributes his product unerringly, and provides a vital link of personal contact between the newspaper as an institution and the newspaper readers, as customers.

The newspaperboy is among the last of the rugged individualists. His adversaries are many, not the least of which is weather. Yet, he always seems to come through.

We should pause October 16, of this year to think about these newspaperboys, and to thank them for their devoted efforts. And we should try to remember to make every day newspaperboy Day In Ohio.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Repetition Can Be Effective Drill

Most people think of drill as mere repetition. But effective drill is correct repetition. All too much of what a child repeats at school or home is repetition of the wrongs as well as of the rights. The repetition fixes in the child's mind the wrongs along with the rights. So we Dr. Garry Myers can see the reasons why drill is often denounced as a waste of time.

In spite of what you may have read or heard, effective drill is desirable for learning in many items — the spelling of words, the basic number combinations, even learning by heart certain essential symbols in science and mathematics.

THE MAIN problem in guiding a child to learn by heart such useful items, or in setting yourself to do so, is to make sure there are no incorrect repetitions, but only accurate ones.

Have you ever seen in an elementary classroom concerted and consistent guidance in memorizing only by correct repetition? The usual procedure is to keep testing the child, orally or by writing, on items he has not yet mastered accurately. Indeed, the majority of the children's time is taken up with causing them to repeat what they have not yet learned correctly — to repeat incorrectly.

In such simple matters as the addition, subtraction, or multiplication number - facts, the whole class may be tested orally on many of these combinations at one sitting or class period. A good number of the children will thus repeat some or many of these errors. This is often called drill. It's drill of the worst sort.

"SUPPOSE the teacher is directing the whole class or a smaller group of them in giving the answer to number combinations flashed. Each child tries to answer something, right or wrong; rather than to keep silent or say 'I don't know.' He's sure it is desirable to be rapid, right or wrong.

When children are paired to "help each other" learn these one child tests the other and keeps on testing with the hope that the wrongs will disappear and the rights survive.

At home parents generally keep testing the child on the number combinations in like manner. This is also done in spelling. At school, the teacher presents to the whole class, or a group of it, a list of words she writes on the blackboard. Suppose the words are: onion, biscuit, busy, angel, women. She pronounces onion, has the children pronounce it, then to spell it while looking at it. Then she may have the children look away and try to spell it from memory, when a lot of them spell it wrong. She does likewise with biscuit and so on.

SHE DOES NOT have them repeat the word biscuit and spell it while looking at and to do all this five or six times in succession before trying to spell it from memory.

How often all this should be done the teacher may not know. It should be done often enough so that practically no child will repeat its spelling incorrectly.

When you have your child attack the spelling of a similar list at home, he will be in haste to go to the next word before completely mastering the spelling of each word before leaving it. Here is the strategic place in learning to spell at home or at school — pronouncing and spelling each word many times while looking right at it before trying himself out on it. How wonderful it would be if, while helping your child with a spelling list, he would freely say, "I don't know" when in doubt, and go back to see how it is spelled.

When I was a school lad, my father, who never read a treatise on psychology, had the right idea. When I would ask him "to hear my words" and would stumble over the spelling of just one of them, he would say, "Garry, go back and study them." He tried to keep me from spelling any word wrong. My bulletins, "Tips for Students" and "Home Helps in Spelling and Arithmetic," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — James Thomas Scopes, defendant in the "monkey trial" over the teaching of evolution in Tennessee schools, says he has never altered his belief in the individual and his personal rights.

Scopes' teaching career was ended in the 1925 trial in which he was defended by Clarence Darrow and prosecuted by William Jennings Bryan.

Scopes, 65, now a retired geologist, tells of the trial in a book to be published Nov. 1 by the University Press at Louisiana State University.

LONDON (AP) — Philosopher Bertrand Russell tore up his Labor party card Thursday night and scored the Labor government for carrying out "Britain's old imperialistic policy."

Russell severed relations with the Labor party after 51 years of membership in protest of the government's support of American policy at Viet Nam.

Russell, 93, spoke at a ceremony organized by British pacifist organizations in response to an appeal from the United States Viet Nam Day Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Comedian Steve Allen has asked the California Supreme Court to order Secretary of State Frank S. Jordon to put his name on the ballot as a candidate for Congress.

Allen is seeking the Democratic nomination from the 26th Congressional District in Los Angeles. The election is Nov. 23. His name was kept off the ballot because he did not register as a Democrat until Sept. 18. State law requires that a candidate be a member of his party for 90 days before an election.

TOKYO (AP) — American pianist Thomas Schumacher arrived in Tokyo today for a one month concert tour under an international exchange program.

Miss Masuko Ushioda, one of Japan's rising violinists, left for the United States Oct. 12 for two months of concert appearances.

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Actor Claude Rains has left the Coatesville Hospital after treatment for more than a month of a bleeding ulcer.

'Hello, Dolly' Ends Its Tour Of South Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "Hello, Dolly!", the first Broadway show ever to play a combat zone, rang down the curtain on its Viet Nam tour today with a series of on-stage salutes from a four-star general.

Dressed in combat fatigues, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Viet Nam, gave separate snappy salutes to the "dancers, singers, supporting players, the boys in the pit, male lead Lor-ing Smith and you, Dolly, Miss Martin."

Mary Martin, the star of the show, gasped audibly at the unexpected curtain speech by the general and could only say, through tears, "God bless you all."

The general's visit to the 72-member company was a surprise. He had attended the show only Thursday with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Westmoreland thanked the troupe for its contribution to the morale of U.S. forces in Viet Nam and assured them that the troops they played to in Bien Hoa, Nha Trang, Tan Son Nhut and Saigon "are the elite of the military, all of them proud to be here, although to be sure what you have seen is only 20 per cent of the total American force here."

The David Merrick production leaves Viet Nam Saturday to play for American troops on Okinawa, then goes to Korea for another round of military performances.

The company gets back to the paying boxoffice in December when it opens in London.

City Seeks Bids On Clearing Site For Parking Lot

The Board of Control is scheduled to open bids at City Hall at noon Monday, Nov. 1, for razing buildings along E. 3rd St. and Church Alley to clear the way for a major expansion of the Ceramic Parking Lot.

Bids will be sought on demolition or removal of the structures, first step toward leveling the site, applying a black-top surface and installing meters for a parking area expected to hold 80 autos.

The contract will be awarded by Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, who comprise the board.

Council took the first major step toward acquisition of the property at its meeting on Oct. 4. It authorized Vodrey to acquire four pieces of real estate for a total of $37,287 and gave Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper authority to go into court — if necessary — to have a price fixed on a fifth tract.

Two additional properties will be donated to the city for use in the site by W. Leland Thompson. They are a former Synagogue building and an adjoining double house.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a divorcee with a 17-year-old son I have raised alone. I asked his father to please leave when the boy was 7 years old.

I was proud of the job I did as a mother. David is an excellent student, a gifted musician and popular with both boys and girls. He is self-reliant and never complains because my work takes me away from home five or six days at a time.

A few days ago I was cleaning the apartment and I did something I've never done before. I turned David's mattress—and I wish I hadn't. Under the mattress I found 15 magazines of nudes. A further search of the room turned up about 50 additional nudes.

What makes me sick, Ann, is that the pictures were of males, not females.

I divorced his father because he was a homosexual. Can the sickness be inherited?—DESPERATE.

Dear Desperate: No. The problem is not hereditary. It is a psychological disturbance and it calls for professional treatment.

Ask your family doctor to suggest a counselor for the boy and don't lose any time.

Free Loaders

Dear Ann: I'm appalled by bits and pieces of conversations I've been hearing lately. Here are some samples:

Mrs. A.: "Our son and daughter are driving from Oregon to New York next week. They won't have to spend a dime for food or hotels. They've written to friends along the way."

Mrs. B.: "My husband and I are going through the Mayo Clinic next month. The folks who used to live next door moved to Rochester five years ago. We're going to write and ask if we can stay with them."

Mrs. C.: "Our daughter's husband is being transferred to Toledo next month. Can they stay with your sister while they are house hunting?"

Ann, my husband and I have traveled extensively and we wouldn't dream of calling friends or relatives to ask for free housing. Is something the matter with us? —LITTLE ROCK READER.

Dear Reader: Somewhere there must be people who just love to have folks move in with them. I don't happen to be one of those people but then maybe something is wrong with me.

Those who go only where they are invited invariably enjoy friendships that last longer.

Starving Sitter

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl who is baby-sitting and starving. I arrived on the job at 8 o'clock. My boy friend came at 8:30 to keep me company.

We both get three good meals a day at home but that's not enough for growing teen-agers. Right now we are chewing on our nails because there isn't a thing in this house to eat. Don't you think it is rotten not to leave some snacks for the sitter?

Please print your answer in the paper. I know this lady reads your column because once she clipped out a letter about sitters who talk on the phone a lot and she left it where I would see it.—HUNGRY H.

Dear H.: Most women leave a soft drink or some fruit for the sitter. This is a nice practice but the woman doesn't owe you refreshments. You are hired to sit, Kiddo, not eat. If you must have nourishment at frequent intervals, bring something from home—especially since you seem to be entertaining guests on the job.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Widower Kills Mother Of Three Then Shoots Self

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Laura Littlejohn, 29, mother of three children, was shot and killed by a widower neighbor Thursday as she was hanging up wash in her back yard, the Miami County Sheriff's office said.

The neighbor, Fred Pettay, about 65, then returned inside his house and shot himself in the head. Coroner William Adkins ruled the deaths a murder and suicide.

Deputies said they could find no explanation for the deaths. Sheriff Chester Paulus said Pettay evidently stood on the back steps of his home and fired a single shot from his shotgun into Mrs. Littlejohn's back.

Then Pettay apparently went into the bathroom of his house, where he took his own life with a single shot from a .22-caliber pistol, Paulus said.

Pettay was retired after teaching science at Troy high school for 35 years. He had lived alone since his wife died six weeks ago.

Beware Of After-School Eating

Ida Jean Kain

A teen - ager, looking for a magic way out of the overeating habit, writes: "Maybe you can help solve my problem. I am very much overweight, and need help badly. I have tried diets which promise to reduce you in one week or your money back. For the first week they work, but soon I'm back to eating like a horse!"

"I'm very active in school, but it's when I get home that I eat great amounts of everything. I am told that will power is needed. I've even kidded myself about getting into a nice size dress.

"I'm taught to eat whatever comes into the house; to make the best of everything and turn nothing away. I'm always a good eater. Believe me, I want to lose. . .but I just can't."

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, explained: "Because the inquiry would concern the structure, peculiar leadership titles and activities of organizations which are admittedly secret, the hearings will begin with background information designed to assist in better understanding the matters to be developed."

Once this is out of the way the committee is expected to turn the full light of its public hearings on the biggest of all the klans — Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton's United Klans. Later it will take up individually the smaller, sometimes feuding units of the invisible empire.

Willis, who opened the Klan investigation in March, announced Thursday the public hearings will begin Tuesday in the big caucus room of the old Cannon House Office Building.

Willis said that because of the scope of the subject matter the inquiry "will last a considerable length of time."

Utilities Board Seeks New Bids On Roof Job

Failing to receive offers at a meeting Wednesday, the Board of Public Utilities said today it will open bids again at noon Nov. 3 at its office in City Hall for repair of the roof of the water purification plant.

The board was scheduled to open bids on the job at a session Wednesday, but none was filed. Specifications call for repair of downspouts and the valleys on the roof of the building.

Roberts Guest Speaker For Counseling Board

Donald G. Roberts, administrator of the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic, discussed his experiences as a psychiatric social worker when directors of the Child Counseling Center met in the offices at Mary Patterson Memorial.

Roberts has a Master's degree in social work from the University of Pittsburgh and had eight years correctional work as a probation officer in Mahoning County Juvenile Court before assuming his present position at Lisbon.

"The people of Columbiana County are to be commended," Roberts said. "It is quite unusual for such a small community to do so much." He explained that of Ohio's 88 counties, only five have locally owned and operated clinics and the other four are in large metropolitan areas.

Ohio's Fair Showed $1,093,000 Receipts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 1965 Ohio State Fair took in $1,093,000, the Ohio Expositions Commission was told Thursday, but net profits probably will be about $30,000. Gross receipts exceeded last year's figure by $172,000.

Among proposals discussed by commission members were extension of the fair from an 11-day to 12-day run, race track improvements, erection of a band shell and construction of a new resources building.

Area Delegation Attends Sessions Of Nurses' Group

Ruby Webb, industrial nurse at the Hall China Co., will preside during the Saturday morning session of the Ohio Industrial Nurses Association semi-annual conference in Cincinnati.

She is first vice president of the association. The meeting got under way today and will conclude Sunday. Others from the area attending include Martha Blackburn, executive director of the association; Fay Wise of the Jay Manufacturing Co.; Lois Miller of the Dover Wire Plant of General Electric; Wilma Minor, Frances O'Leary, Grace Moore and Pearl Evans of the Weirton Steel Co., and Nettie Tedreau of the Wheeling Steel Co.

Discussing some of his cases, Roberts approached juvenile delinquency on the basis of the child acting out his problems. "Socially unacceptable behavior may be an attempt to achieve love, friends and attention," he said. "In many instances, the child plans to be caught so that the attention and help he needs will follow."

Roberts also stressed the necessity for involving the child's parents in any form of corrective therapy.

In other business, the directors affirmed by resolution their support of the one - mill levy for the Retarded Children's School at Elktion.

Officer Cites Man In Crash

A 27-year-old trucker was cited by police after a three-way collision Thursday at 1:45 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. about 100 feet east of Boyce St., officers said.

Melvin L. Haddox, 618 1/2 Main St., Wellsville, was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance following a mishap that damaged his 1963 model truck, a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Thomas E. Hanlon, 37, of 1758 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and a 1963 two-door sedan operated by Charles D. Moore, 18, of 12 Lincoln St., Salineville.

Hanlon and Moore told Patrolman William A. Devon their autos were halted in a line of traffic when the truck hit Moore's car from the rear and shoved it into Hanlon's.

Haddox told the officer he saw Moore's halted car, but when he attempted to stop his truck skidded.

The collision damaged the trunk lid and rear bumper of Hanlon's car, both the front and rear of Moore's auto and the front of the truck, police said.

Haddox, pleading guilty to the traffic charge today in Municipal Court, was fined $5 and costs by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp.

Koufax Wraps Up Series Bundle For Dodgers By 2-0

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Sandy Koufax figured to dominate the World Series before it started, and it turned out just that way.

The 29-year-old ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers who is called the best pitcher in baseball, won Thursday's clincher 2-0 with a brilliant three-hit effort. The left-hander struck out 10 Minnesota Twins.

Although he lost his first start in the second Series game, Sandy allowed only one earned run in 24 innings in three starts. His final strikeout total of 29 was only two short of the Series record of 31 set by Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals last year.

With all due respect to Don Drysdale, the 23-game winner who won the fourth game, Koufax' performance in coming back with only two days of rest, made him the Dodgers' No. 1 hero.

Jim Grant, who beat Drysdale in the opener and also came back with two days rest to whip Claude Osteen in the sixth game, rates high on the Twins' totem pole.

In the final essence, it was Dodger pitching with three shutouts and the ability of Los Angeles' supposedly weak hitters to all but match the Twins in home run power that swung the balance to the Dodgers.

It was another satisfying triumph for the National League which has won eight of the last 12 Series and three in a row. The Dodgers go into the record books along with the 1921 New York Giants, 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers and 1956 and 1958 New York Yankees as the only clubs to bounce back and win after losing the first two.

The startling difference between the games played at Metropolitan Stadium and at spacious Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles was reflected by the results. Not until the final day did they have to play the last of the ninth inning.

Maury Wills and Ron Fairly, each with 11 hits, were the big producers for the winners, but don't overlook Lou Johnson, the much-traveled 31-year-old outfielder.

Johnson, called up from Spokane in May after Tommy Davis suffered a broken ankle, sparked the Dodgers in May and June. In the final game of the Series, it was his home run off the left field foul screen that gave Koufax all the margin he needed.

Johnson's homer, leading off the fourth, doomed Jim Kaat, who also was pitching with two days rest. When Ron Fairly followed with a double to the right field corner and Wes Parker singled to right scoring Fairly, Kaat was done for the day.

Sam Mele's relief men put the stopper to the Dodger attack but it was the same old story—too late.

Koufax' best friend was Jim Gilliam, an old sidekick who was brought back from the coaching staff to the active list in May to fill a third base emergency for the final out.

When Sandy gave up a double to Frank Quilici in the fifth and then walked pinch hitter Rich Rollins, Manager Walter Alston came out to talk with him. The finished the regular season with next batter, Zoilo Versalles, slammed a hard grounder down the third base line that Gilliam gloved behind the bag in time for the vital force play at third base.

Koufax, who had struck out six in the first three innings and then let the fielders do the work, closed with a flourish. After Harmon Killebrew singled with one out in the ninth—the third Minnesota hit—Koufax struck out Earl Battey and Bob Allison for the final outs.

The southpaw star was an iron man all year despite an arthritic elbow that had threatened to curtail his career. He finished the regular season with 26 victories, leading the National League for the fourth straight season in earned run percentage.

Adding his World Series achievements he made 44 starts in 1965, completed 28, turned in 28 victories, pitched 359 innings and struck out 411.

"We sure did it the hard way," said Alston after accepting congratulations from owner Walter O'Malley. "We scratched and scrambled all year long and it finally paid off."

Big One At Steubenville . . .

The battle of the week unfolds tonight 25 miles from East Liverpool where No. 1 Massillon meets No. 4 Steubenville Big Red.

The contest could go a long way in deciding the 1965 Ohio High School football championship.

Big Red, by the way, will be East Liverpool's opponent next Friday night at Patterson Field.

Tonight's game is a sellout and close to 10,000 fans are expected to jam every corner of Harding Stadium, but Big Red officials said no fans will be turned away as general admission tickets will be sold.

Big Red's main threat is junior halfback Mike Palmer, who is being tabbed as one of the great runners in Steubenville grid history. He is averaging 9.5 yards per carry. Bob Smith, Big Red fullback, is averaging 6.5 yards.

.500 On Predictions . . .

EVERYTHING came out even last week on the local football forecasts, with six right, six wrong and one tie.

We haven't been right on the unpredictable Potters since the opening game of the season. When we say they will win, they lose or tie, and vice versa.

Tonight we are picking East Liverpool for a victory in view of the record turned in by Martins Ferry, which has scored only two touchdowns in five games. The Potters by two touchdowns.

We are staying in Oak Glen's corner again this week, since the Golden Bears have beaten stronger foes than the one they face tonight. Oak Glen by a pair of touchdowns over Phillip Barbour.

Mingo gets the nod over Wellsville tonight, while Midland is picked to nip Rochester. Beaver Local should roll up its third win of the season at East Palestine by a two-touchdown margin, while Leetonia rates the edge on Columbiana and Sebring is picked to trip Lisbon.

In Saturday's games, Southern is picked to win its second game over Crestview, while Salem is our choice over Canton Timken. United should remain undefeated at Jackson-Milton and Laurel should trip South Side.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

OUT AT Findlay College, an ex-East Liverpool griddier has won a starting position on the offensive team.

Bud Myers, who didn't come out for football at East Liverpool until his senior year then won a regular berth and was voted "rookie of the year," is the starting offensive end for the Findlay eleven.

Bud, a junior, played under Lou Vendetti at East Liverpool. He won a letter last season at Findlay, but this is the first season he has started. Bud is the son of Corliss Myers.

A CALL last week from a Wellsville reader asked when the last East Liverpool-Wellsville game was played on Thanksgiving.

The last Turkey Day meeting was 1945 when the Potters completed an undefeated season with a 34-0 victory over Wellsville at Patterson Field.

WE HAVE had several inquiries about whether the Blue and White Nonpareil Club met this week. The club did not hold its usual Wednesday night meeting.

KEN RUSSELL, former Midland High School quarterback who is now coaching at Santa Fe High School in Lakeland, Fla., will play with the Florida Brahmas in a North American League game Saturday against the Pittsburgh Mustangs at Washington, Pa.

Russell, who was an outstanding defensive back at the University of Florida, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russell of Midland Ave., Midland.

Westgate Wins, 44-0, Over Canton McKinley

A bright page for the future was recorded Thursday at Patterson Field when Westgate rolled over Canton McKinley, 44-0.

The victory was so decisive that Coach Joe Chontos' team held the visitors to only one first down.

Jim Musuraac romped for two touchdowns, one coming on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Danny Cunningham and the other on a 40-yard gallop.

Cunningham had two touchdowns himself going 30 yards for one and three yards for the other.

Floyd Cranston gained the scoring column on a 20-yard jaunt and added three conversions while Tom Chambers scored one TD on a 15-yard run.

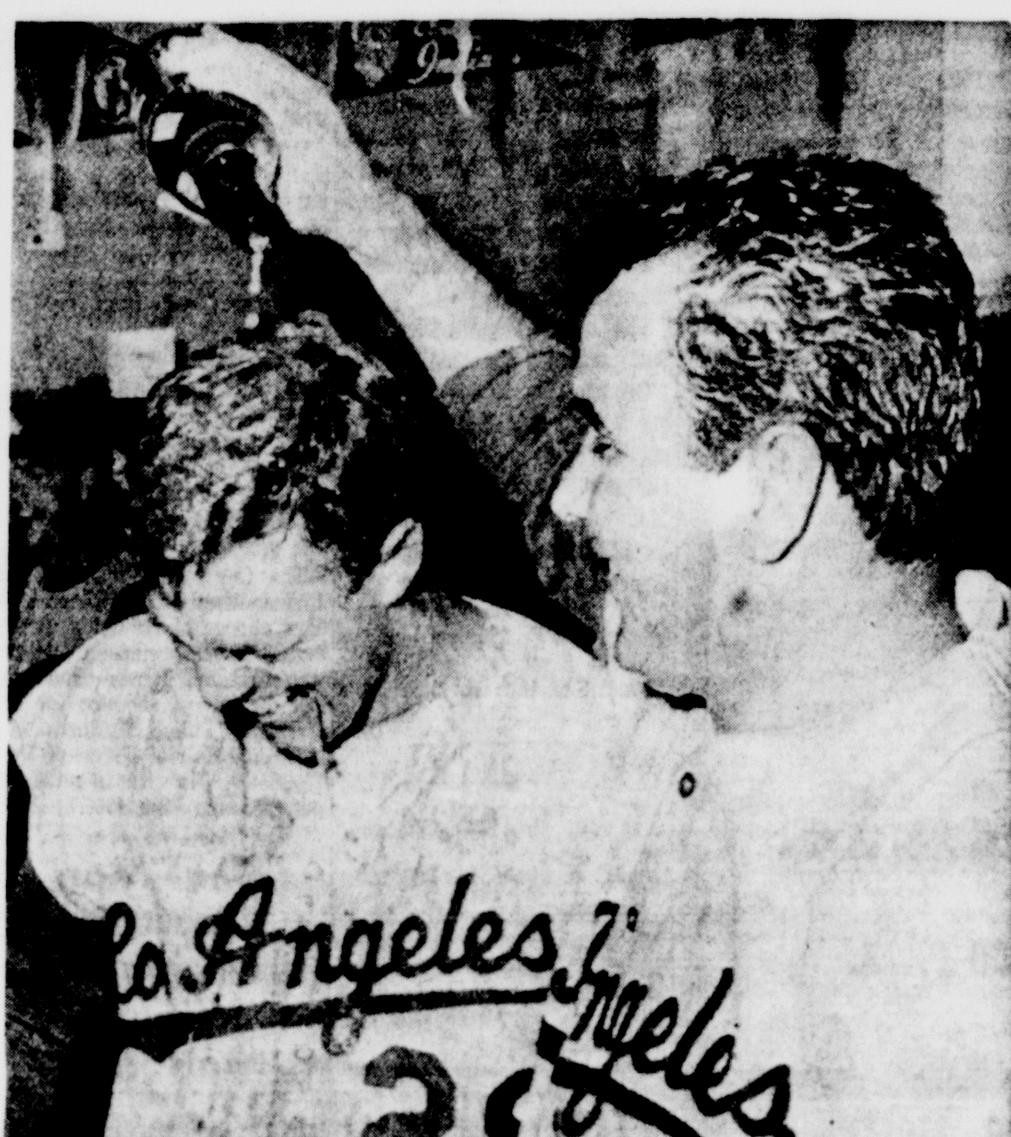

The victory was the fifth straight for the unbeaten Wildcats.

Westgate will play Salem next Thursday at Patterson Field.

Vikings Also Get Narrow Nod

Green Bay, Browns Picked To Capture NFL Contests

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Now that the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Dodgers have stopped messing around with the Metropolitan Stadium infield, the Vikings can get busy with their football schedule.

The Vikings' game with the up-and-coming Chicago Bears Sunday figures to be one of the top tests of a full pro weekend schedule of 11 games.

Maybe the best way to pick pro football is by watching baseball. Anyhow, last week's 9-1 mark boosted the season record to 22-6 in the NFL and 10-4-1 in the AFL for a total of 32-10-1.

Let's take another fling (all games Sunday afternoon unless otherwise indicated)

NFL

Green Bay 24, Detroit 14—Packers still winning although Don Chandler pulled them out last week.

Baltimore 27, Washington 14—Redskins still having trouble scoring and they haven't beaten Colts since 1959.

St. Louis 34, Pittsburgh 10—Cardinals' running game coming on to match Charley Johnson's passing attack.

San Francisco 28, Los Angeles 21—Although Rams beat 49ers in exhibition game 34-14, Los Angeles offense has been spotty and pass defense leaky.

Cleveland 27, Dallas 20—Browns must start to click big real soon. Cowboys' pass defense is tough but they can be had on the ground.

Minnesota 30, Chicago 28—A wild one at Met Stadium. Both teams pack home run power.

New York 17, Philadelphia 14—Giants desperately want to put best foot forward in home opener after 2-2 record on road.

AFL

Oakland 20, New York 14—(Saturday night)—Raiders ending three-week road swing still in position to challenge for Western title.

Denver 24, Houston 21—Broncos gave good account of selves in losing battle against Kansas City.

San Diego 28, Boston 14—Unlabeled Chargers sit on their laurels they should be able to pour it on against Patriots.

Kansas City 18, Buffalo 16—The Chiefs beat the Bills by that score in an exhibition game.

Potters Can Shake Slump Tonight At Martins Ferry

Martins Ferry, only a few years ago one of the top dogs in Ohio football, may offer the East Liverpool Potters a chance to spring from their current slump.

Homecoming will be observed tonight at Martins Ferry and kickoff is set for 8 p. m.

After two victories to open the season the Potters have dropped a pair of games and tied another in their last three outings.

While Martins Ferry has scored only two touchdowns in five games the Potters haven't been so potent themselves with three touchdowns in three games.

Coach Bob McNea tried several changes in the Blue and White lineup last week but the move didn't prove successful as Newton Falls came up with a 16-14 surprise.

East Liverpool's passing game showed improvement with Chuck Winters hitting Nick Markbanks and Bob Woods accurately.

Woods may see more action tonight at an offensive post after his impressive showing last week as a receiver.

Martins Ferry has been shut-out in four of five games scoring only in a 16-14 victory over Wheeling. Hempfield defeated the Riders, 36-0 in the opener while Marietta followed with a 26-0 victory. Follansbee was a 19-0 winner and last week the Riders were blanked 28-0 by Winterville.

Coach Carl Mamone who took over the head coaching duties succeeding Bob Wion, announced that Jim Smith, a sophomore, would start at quarterback in place of Greg Tesniarz. Tesniarz will be moved to end with Ken Dawson coming out of the Ferry lineup.

Another change showed Everett Mills, 205-pound junior going to fullback as Dave Totterdale, 180-pound junior will open at halfback.

Drowns In Bathtub

National Crown Rests On Texas, Arkansas Battle

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The World Series is over less than 24 hours and the national college football championship is ready to be settled!

The Texas vs. Arkansas clash at Fayetteville, Ark. Saturday afternoon ranks as the most important game of the season. It very well could produce the national champion and is certain to have a great bearing on the final selection.

Texas currently ranks as the No. 1 team in the nation. Arkansas is No. 3. Nebraska ranks second. Each has a 4-0 record. Nebraska plays neither Texas nor Arkansas.

Should the Texas-Arkansas match produce a big winner, that team would be in excellent position to go all the way. Should it be a close one — and recent history would indicate that's more likely — Nebraska could get in No. 1 and stay there.

The last three Texas-Arkansas games have been decided by a total of nine points, and all indications are that this one—scheduled for national television coverage—will follow the same format.

Nebraska, meanwhile, has a much easier assignment. The Cornhuskers, who have outscored their last two opponents 81-0, are top-heavy favorites against winless Kansas State.

No. 4 Michigan State, No. 6 Southern California and No. 7 Purdue have their work cut out for them.

Michigan State, 4-0, is at home to rugged Ohio State, 2-1, while Purdue, 3-0-1, continues its quest of a Rose Bowl spot at Michigan, 2-2, in key Big Ten games.

Southern California, also Rose Bowl conscious, matches 3-0-1 records with Stanford in Los Angeles.

Florida, 3-1 and No. 9 in the country, is favored over North Carolina State, 1-3. No. 7 Notre Dame is idle.

Fifth ranked Georgia and 10th ranked Mississippi State, each 4-0, are scheduled Saturday night. Georgia is at Florida State and Mississippi State at winless Memphis State.

The only major Friday night game scheduled has Cincinnati at George Washington.

Twins Establish Record For Lowest Hit Average

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, American League pennant winners on the strength of their strong hitting, tied a World Series record for the lowest club batting average while losing in seven games to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Twins batted only .195, equalling the record for seven games established by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1956 Series against the New York Yankees.

In all, five records were broken and 20 tied during the 1965 Series.

The records:

Individual Records Broken
Most putouts game, pitcher—5, Jim Kaat, Minnesota AL (old record 4 by Bob Purkey, Cincinnati, NL, 1961).

Most putouts, pitcher, seven game series—5, Jim Kaat, Minnesota AL (old record 4 by Jim Bouton, New York AL, 1964).

Individual Records Tied
Most hits, game — 4, Maury Wills, Los Angeles NL (also held by 30 others).

Most hits, inning — 2, Frank Quilici, Minnesota AL (also held by 12 others).

Hitting home run in first World Series at-bat—Don Mincher, Minnesota AL (also held by three others).

Alston Was Right

Choice Of Koufax Leaves Second Guessers Guessing

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL

(AP) — Walter Alston gave the second guessers the chance of a lifetime and then stuffed it right down their throats by getting a three-hit shutout gem from Sandy Koufax.

If the Dodgers' 26-game winner had been knocked out of the box early Thursday, the chorus would have fingered the Los Angeles manager as the villain for passing over a well-rested Don Drysdale.

Instead of playing it safe, Alston threw caution to the winds and gambled on Koufax with only two days rest. What a gamble! The best pitcher in baseball rose to the challenge, and the Dodgers won the World Series.

Koufax lost the second game to Jim Kaat after Drysdale was beaten in the opener. Koufax shut out the Minnesota Twins Monday in Los Angeles after Drysdale had beaten them in the fourth game Sunday.

When the Twins whipped Claude Osteen Wednesday and squared the Series at 3-3, it was Drysdale's normal turn to work. The big right-hander won 23 games during the regular season and had his normal three days rest.

Alston really decided to go with Koufax Wednesday night but he didn't let the world know until just before game time Thursday at Metropolitan Stadium.

In keeping with his nature, Alston let Maury Wills, his team captain, post the line-up which included the first positive word that Koufax would pitch.

Sandy, of course, was superb. He struck out 10 and blanked the Twins with three hits while winning 2-0 in the seventh and decisive game.

The two Dodger runs came off Jim Kaat in the fourth. Kaat, the Twins' 18-game winning lefty, had the tough luck to draw Koufax in each of his three starting assignments.

He beat Sandy the first time they met, but the Twins never got him a run in his other two starts.

Veteran Podres Points Out Great Team Spirit

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL

(AP) — Veteran pitcher Johnny Podres, who clinched the Dodgers' first World Championship 10 years ago under similar circumstances, had the first champagne bottle opened in the Los Angeles dressing room this time and the last word on the 1965 club.

"This team has the greatest spirit," said Podres, who has been on all four of the Dodgers' World Series winners, starting with the first he clinched in 1955 by pitching a 2-0 shutout in the seventh game.

And as he silently watched his carousing teammates, after they beat Minnesota 2-0 Thursday, he explained:

"A lot of those other teams had so much power a lot of our games were no contest. The other clubs just weren't in there. This club has had to battle all year long. It was close all the time and no one ever quit."

"It's more satisfying winning that way."

Dodger Manager Walter Alston, who sat and talked with reporters in front of his cubicle in the dressing room after shaking hands with many players, was asked the same question but sidestepped neatly.

"The 1955 championship was our first so that was exciting," said Alston. "Then in 1959 we came from behind to win in a tight race, and in 1963 they came back after blowing it the year before. This club has had to battle all year long."

It was more a history than a comparison, and what he had said in a 30-second conversation with Dodger owner Walter O. Malley might have been more indicative of his feelings.

O'Malley, carefully treading across the slippery floor, threw his arms around the Dodger manager and whispered:

"Wait, it's getting to be a habit."

"But," replied Alston with a grin, "we sure did it the hard way this time."

While Alston would not compare his clubs, he was perfectly willing to talk about his great left-hander, Sandy Koufax, after some careful prodding by reporters who asked him to say something different about the great left-hander.

"You guys are the writers," he answered. "I really can't think of anything different. He's just the best lefty I've ever seen."

Koufax, Lou Johnson and Jim Gilliam — the three Dodger standouts in the deciding game — each had their little knots of adherents as Alston continued to answer questions.

"I was trying to go as far as I could," said Koufax. "I tired in the fifth, and Alston told me not to reach back and throw too hard. How does it feel? This one feels better than all the others because it's the last one. It's over."

Johnson, the rookie left fielder who started the Dodger scoring with a leadoff homer in the fourth inning, said:

"I knew it was gone. But I thought it might go foul. He (Jim Kaat) didn't throw good

Most Twins Agree They Lost To Great Pitcher

By LEW FERGUSON

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL

(AP) — The Minnesota Twins sounded a little like a rejected suitor who had just lost the courtship.

They spoke quiet praise of the bridegroom, Sandy Koufax, Thursday and vowed they would try again to win a World Series.

There were no tears, little remorse and only spotty anger in the Twins' dressing room after Koufax pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-0 victory in the seventh game.

There were the natural regrets, but most of the Twins agreed they had been beaten by the greatest pitcher in baseball today.

Fiery Zoilo Versalles dissented, but he was practically alone. "What do they say in Brooklyn? Wait till next year?" asked losing pitcher Jim Kaat.

"I told my players they did a fine job," Manager Sam Mele said, "and to keep their chins up and we'll start after another one next spring."

Harmon Killebrew summed up the general feeling when he said, "We gave it our best shot, that's all we could do. It was a good year, but it could have been better."

Mele was to meet with Twins' President Calvin Griffith today to discuss a new contract — reportedly a two-year pact — before leaving for his Quincy, Mass., home where his wife,

Connie, is overdue in giving birth to the couple's fifth child. Mele said of the seventh game: "My guys played good, dammit. We just didn't hit that son of a gun (Koufax). It took another great performance by him to beat us."

Jim Gilliam's play could have been the turning point. If the ball gets past him, Frank Quilici would have scored for sure and Rich Rollins might have scored from first to tie the game, depending on what happened in the left field corner.

Mele referred to a sharp grounder stroked past third by Versalles in the fifth inning after Quilici doubled and pinch-hitter Rollins walked. Gilliam went to his knees to stop the ball and had an easy force play on Quilici at third.

"That was the play that had anger flashing in Versalles' eyes after the game."

"The guy (Gilliam) don't even know he has the ball," Versalles snapped. "I think they were lucky. I say we could have won easy."

Then Kaat expressed the majority opinion on Koufax.

"That Koufax is amazing," Kaat said. "He deserved to win it. We hope to get another crack at them someday."

Willie Pep. 43. Scores TKO On Comeback Trail

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Pep, of Hartford, Conn., former world's featherweight champion, won his eighth fight along a 1965 comeback trail Thursday night, scoring a fifth-round technical knockout of Sergio Musquiz, 136 1/2, Mexico.
Pep, who is 43, staggered his 27-year-old opponent with a left-right combination. The Mexican fighter fell helplessly on the ropes.
With two minutes of the fifth round gone, referee Roger Yanez stepped in to stop the fight.
Pep weighed 139, Musquiz 136 1/2.
Pep now has 230 fight victories against 10 defeats in a professional boxing career dating back to 1940.

Bucks Face Spartans In Key Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's Big Ten battle with Michigan State, three important Mid-American conference contests and unbeaten Xavier's visit to winless Ohio University highlight the Ohio collegiate football schedule Saturday.

Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes carry a 2-1 record into the East Lansing fray against the No. 4 ranked Spartans, who have mowed down four straight opponents.

The Bucks are a one-touchdown underdog.
In the Mid-American, unbeaten Kent State (2-0) risks its first place standing at Western Michigan (0-2); Bowling Green (1-0) plays host to improving Toledo (1-1) and all - winning Marshall (1-0) visits disappointing Miami (1-1).

Muskingum, atop the Ohio Conference with a 3-0 mark, figures to make it four straight against weak Heidelberg.
Other OC action finds Akron at Wooster, Hiram at Kenyon, Baldwin - Wallace Wittenberg, Capital at Marietta and Denison at Mount Union.

Dayton, still searching for its first victory after four reversals, is at home to the Quantico Marines. The inept Flyer offense has scored only six points all year.
The others:
Ashland at Wilmington (n); Findlay at Ohio Northern; Tufts at Ohio Wesleyan; Washington & Jefferson at Case; Western Reserve at John Carroll; Oberlin at Bluffton; Lake Forest at Oberlin; Defiance at St. Josephs; Central State at Lincoln and Augustana at Youngstown (n).

Junior Editors Quiz on APPLES

QUESTION: How does an apple bloom and grow?

ANSWER: This question is not put quite correctly. An apple does not bloom. What blooms is the apple blossom. From this, the apple, which is a fruit, develops. We show stages of this development at left. (1) is the apple blossom. In the cross section of this, you can see two petals. Between these are the styles and stamens. Below the petals are the sepals, and below this again a base, inside of which are ovaries and carpels. As the petals drop off (2) tissues from various parts fuse with the base and this becomes much larger; the part inside the dotted line has increased in size too. With (3) the apple blossom is rapidly becoming a fruit. Both base and inside tissue have increased very greatly. The weight of the young apple is bending it down on the stem. The part that was once a flower has shrunk in size and the body of the apple is swelling around the stem, making a cavity where this goes in. A little later (4) the fruit acquires a full rounded shape and a beautiful red or yellow color, together with a most attractive polish. It has become our dear old friend, the apple—in the opinion of most of us, the finest fruit in the world.

FOR YOU TO DO: Slice an apple exactly through the middle and take a close look at its inner structure. In the core you will find the seeds, the most important part—for when you throw the core away, a seed might germinate and start a new apple tree.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Oct. 15, the 228th day of 1965. There are 77 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history

On this date in 1946, ten top Nazis were hanged at Nuernberg Prison in Germany; two hours before the hangings Herman Goering committed suicide in his prison cell.

On this date . . .

In 1928, the Graf Zeppelin reached Lakehurst, N.J., on its first transatlantic voyage.

In 1940, Germany took control of Romania's oil refineries.

In 1941, the Nazis reached the outer defenses of Moscow.

In 1945, Pierre Laval died before a firing squad in Paris as a traitor to France.

Separation Ordered Garbage, Trash Action Taken By Midland Council

Midland Council has taken steps to enforce the separation of garbage and trash after Beaver County representatives of the Pennsylvania Health Department found a mixture of the two at the city trash dump.

At the meeting in the chamber at City Hall Thursday, Mayor Eli Corak expressed disappointment "over the foolish practice of some residents mixing trash with the garbage. We have been endeavoring to forestall the closing of the city dump by the health department until the all-purpose incinerator is completed. This foolish practice isn't helping the cause any," he pointed out.

COUNCIL approved action to stop the practice by calling for rigid examination of garbage picked up. Anyone failing to comply with the separation regulation will not have garbage removed, the legislators warned.

Lester Trainer Jr. presented council an insurance and pension plan for the Fire Department. Council appointed Corak and Solicitor Frank Suffoletta to meet with the Fire Committee to draw up a program.

Trainer reported that parking violations in the West End have dropped to about 20 per cent since the two-hour regulation was enforced on Midland Ave. west of 3rd St. In an effort to solve the problem further, the Traffic Committee is working along with Michael Baker engineers for better facilities in this area.

COUNCIL appointed a committee of Trainer, Corak, Suffoletta and Raymond Presutti to investigate property sites for parking lots and recreation areas. Included in the recreation areas would be the tennis courts which Council has promised to provide.

The committee will report to Council on its findings.

Mill Creek Group Sets Wednesday Meeting

The first general meeting of the Mill Creek Valley Historical Association will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Independence Elementary School, on Route 151 in Independence Township, about three miles east of the intersection of Routes 18 and 151.

It will be a get-acquainted session in addition to the business meeting. The present membership is 169.

THE REV. Alexander Wilson will describe how the association got started. He is pastor of the Mill Creek United Presbyterian Church of Hookstown and chairman of the meeting.

Roy Snyder will introduce those who have been the organizers.

Frank Kelsey, vice president of the organizing group, will report on the progress of the committee compiling the constitution and bylaws.

Mrs. Daniel W. Wilson will explain the art contest the association is holding in high schools throughout the southside of Beaver County for a suitable emblem for the association.

On display will be a model of the First Mill Creek Church, made by Norman Littell. It was displayed at the Hookstown Fair and will appear later in one of the commercial windows at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

Business will include the adoption of the constitution and bylaws and the election of 15 directors.

The organization is being set up so that each member may be as active as he or she desires, with a choice among a variety of historical interests. Leonard Ewing, who is donating his service, is the legal adviser.

Mrs. Marshall Hoover, president of the organizing group, will speak briefly on the significance of the history of southwestern Beaver County.

DON MORGAN, Elbert McDowell, Mary Thompson, A. D. Dungan and Marie McElhaney will display books, manuscripts and artifacts pertaining to the area.

Clifford Smith will serve as coordinator of the different divisions of historical research, from which each member may choose according to personal interest and opportunity.

Refreshments will be served. Charter membership is open until Jan. 1, 1966. Anyone who wishes to join may do so at this meeting or by mail. Dues of $1 a year are payable to the secretary, Mrs. Daniel W. Wilson, R.D. 1, Box 329, Aliquippa, Pa.

Liquor Control Board Acts On Two Permits

The Ohio Liquor Control Department at Columbus has issued a new permit to an East Liverpool business and is processing an application filed by another.

A C-1 permit for the carry-out sale of low-powered beer has been issued to Pete Commarata of the P. & J. Carryout, 231 W. 6th St. The application was filed July 20.

An application for a C-1 permit is being processed for Helen R. Kennedy of Kennedys Restaurant on Route 7 in Madison Township. The application was filed Sept. 28.

Senior Group Plans 3 Trips

Plans for three trips were discussed by the 161 who attended the Senior Citizens meeting Thursday afternoon at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The group will go to St. Clairsville on Sunday, Oct. 31, to visit the Rev. John Clark, former minister of the First Methodist Church here and former spiritual adviser for the organization.

Plans also were discussed for a trip to Cook's Forest, Pa., and for a visit in Pittsburgh in December.

Jack Barrett, president, reported on special programs to be held.

Leo Payne, Louis Grogdole and Ollie Campbell reported on the meeting of a county delegation with the state housing board Tuesday in Columbus which they attended as representatives of the group.

The Rev. D. Ross Salisbury, spiritual adviser, spoke briefly. Mrs. Maude Flesch reported on sick members and Mrs. Eunice Hogenfeld announced plans for a rummage sale next month and thanked members for their aid at the recent sale.

The chorus, directed by Mrs. Annie Carr with Nell Pelly accompanist, sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" and "Let The Rest Of The World Go By."

Durbak Lists Next Steps In Housing Plan

The next steps toward establishing a Metropolitan Housing Authority in Columbiana County were listed today by Paul J. Durbak of Steubenville, technical adviser in the program.

Durbak, director of the Steubenville Metropolitan Housing Authority, listed the steps in a letter to the Public Housing Administration's regional office at Chicago.

He sent copies to Mayor George Willshaw of East Liverpool, Mayor Dean Cranmer of Salem, Mayor W. H. Daugherty of Wellsville, Commissioner Frank Wilson and Rep. Wayne

L. Hays, 18th District congressman.

Durbak acted on the heels of State Housing Board approval of the county's application, which was granted Tuesday afternoon in Columbus.

Durbak said the next five steps are:

1. Appointment of five housing commissioners, two by Willshaw as mayor of the county's largest city and one each by the commissioners, the Probate Court judge and the Common Pleas Court judges.
2. The housing commissioners contact the PHA for detailed procedure and assistance.
3. The county housing authority enters into a cooperation agreement with the cities of East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salem, with PHA furnishing data on the number of units each might plan.

4. Each city processes an application for certification of a "workable program" to the regional office of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.
5. Preparation of one development program for the three cities simultaneously in order to overcome the problems of a small housing program.

Establishment of a county housing authority was the first step toward construction of low cost housing with federally-guaranteed loans of up to 90 per cent of the total cost.

Dinner To Honor Pastor, Family

A coverdish dinner will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at the Longs Run Presbyterian Church in honor of the Rev. Richard Shipley, new minister, and his family.

Each family is to bring a coverdish, table service and dessert. Mrs. Frank Fisher, representative of the Women's Association, which is sponsoring the affair, announced. Beverages and rolls will be provided.

Following the meal, the Shipleys will screen color slides and discuss a summer trip to the National Conference Center of the United Presbyterian Church in Abiquiu, N. M.
